Over 20 years of poultry production experience for Bil Mar Foods Division of Sara Lee Corp. as staff veterinarian and live production manager have provided me with a strong poultry production background. Following Sara Lee, I was a poultry technical service veterinarian for Bayer Health Care, Animal Health, for seven years with emphasis on problem solving for layer, turkey, and broiler customers in the U.S. This included supporting and defending Baytril® use in poultry, as well as technical support for other Bayer products to the poultry industry. Currently I am an independent veterinary consultant to several poultry, animal health, and nutrition companies providing veterinary services including poultry health, production management, condemnation reduction, and poultry care and well-being. I am currently serving as chairman of a National Turkey Federation sub-committee that is revising the NTF Turkey Care and Welfare programs and audits.
